Be Prepared for Northern Travel:

Northern Ontario is a wonderful, diverse region to reside or to visit. Whether traveling to a community festival, or to a business meeting in a larger city center, there are many things that should be taken into consideration while traveling in the north.

Thunder Airlines strongly encourages all of our customers to dress for the season at hand - whether winter or summer. Since weather conditions are sometimes unpredictable, it is best to be prepared. In the winter, the ambient temperature can range from -10 to -25 (depending on location) and a wind chill factor of -40 can be expected. In such conditions, the average person's skin begins to freeze at a wind chill of -25. To protect yourself against such cold, it is recommended to dress accordingly with proper footwear, outer clothing layers, hats and gloves.

We also recommend to our passengers to pack an overnight bag with basic necessities, even for one day business travel. Delays may occur due to natural occurrences ranging from extreme weather conditions to forest fires. In the North, it is beneficial to be prepared.

Air Passenger Protection Regulation

If you are denied boarding, your flight is cancelled or delayed for at least two hours*, or your baggage is lost or damaged, you may be entitled to certain standards of treatment and compensation under the Air Passenger Protection Regulation's.

Thunder Airlines also publishes our tariffs on our website. Tariffs set out the terms and conditions of carriage that apply to your travel. You may view these documents online or ask Thunder Airlines for a copy.

For more information about you passenger rights, visit the "Canadian Transportation Agency's" website.

*Certain standards of treatment and compensation for flight delays and cancellations will apply as of December 15, 2019. Thunder Airlines is considered a "small airline" in terms of definitions contained in the Passenger Protection Regulation
